2 This Public Reprimand, which is issued in connection with Respondent's care and 3 treatment of Patient 1 as set forth in Accusation No. 800-2018-043479, is as follows:

4 In 2013, you committed acts constituting negligence in violation of Business 5 and Professions Code section 2234, subdivisions (b) and (c), in your care and 6 treatment of Patient 1, by failing to document a discussion of the risks and benefits 7 of an elective Pitocin induction and timely recognize and treat Patient 1's severe 8 blood loss following delivery.

9 B. EDUCATION COURSE.

10 Within sixty (60) calendar days of the effective date of this Decision, Respondent shall 11 submit to the Board or its designee for its prior approval educational program(s) or course(s) 12 which shall not be less than twenty (20) hours. The educational program(s) or course(s) shall be 13 aimed at correcting any areas of deficient practice or knowledge and shall be Category I certified.
14 The educational program(s) or course(s) shall be at Respondent's expense and shall be in addition 15 to the Continuing Medical Education ("CME") requirements for renewal of licensure. Following

25 from the Board or its designee to cease the practice of medicine within three (3) calendar days 26 after being so notified. Respondent shall not resume the practice of medicine until enrollment or 27 participation in the educational program(s) or course(s) has been completed. Failure to 28 successfully complete the educational program(s) or course(s) outlined above shall constitute

1 FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

2 8. Patient 1,¹ a then 33-year-old gravida 2, para 1 woman, arrived in California from 3 China on February 20, 2013, in the late second/early third trimester of her pregnancy. She sought 4 obstetrical care with Respondent on February 25, 2013, at which time she was approximately 27-5 weeks gestation with an estimated date of delivery of May 28, 2013. Patient 1 provided 6 Respondent with some prenatal records from China, including an ultrasound performed on 7 February 15, 2013, consistent with 25-weeks, 2-days gestation. Patient 1 saw Respondent for 8 prenatal care approximately every two weeks for the next three months during which time, 9 Respondent documented the progress of Patient 1's pregnancy, including blood pressure readings 10 and laboratory studies. On April 26, 2013, Respondent diagnosed Patient 1 with gestational 11 diabetes. He documented that he instructed her on diet, exercise and blood sugar monitoring and 12 that she refused blood sugar monitoring treatment.

13 9. On May 20, 2013, Patient 1 presented to Respondent's office complaining of 14 contractions. Respondent performed a cervical examination which revealed that Patient 1 was 15 one centimeter dilated, 80% effaced and at minus one station. Respondent stated that Patient 1 16 requested an induction of labor in order to hasten her return to China. He suggested that the 17 patient wait until she passed her due date to be induced, but did not advise against induction at 18 that time. The patient's request for induction and Respondent's recommendation to wait was not 19 documented nor was there any documentation of any discussion with the patient regarding the 20 risks associated with induction of labor.

21 10. On May 21, 2013 at 8:24 a.m., Patient 1 presented to PIH Health Hospital in Whittier 22 (hereinafter referred to as "hospital") for induction of labor at 39-weeks gestation. Respondent 23 admitted the patient to labor and delivery and gave telephonic admission orders at approximately 24 9:25 a.m., including the administration of intravenous Pitocin.² There was no documentation of 25 any discussion between Respondent and Patient 1 of the risks and benefits of an elective Pitocin 26 induction. Pitocin was started at 10:32 a.m. From 7:00 p.m. to 8:24 p.m., Patient 1's pain level

27 ¹ For privacy purposes, the patient in this Accusation is referred to as Patient 1.

28 ² Pitocin is a medication that causes the uterus to contract and is used to induce labor.

1 induction. Pitocin was started at 10:32 a.m. From 7:00 p.m. to 8:24 p.m., Patient 1's pain level 2 was noted to have increased from 4 out of 10 to 8 out of 10. A cervical examination was 3 performed at 8:28 p.m. at which time Patient 1 was noted to be 1.5 cm dilated, 80% effaced and at 4 minus two station. At 8:55 p.m., the patient's blood pressure was 121/73, heart rate was 93 and 5 oxygen saturation rate was 98%. At 9:20 p.m., a cervical examination revealed that the patient 6 was 4.5 cm dilated, 90% effaced and at minus one station; the Pitocin was turned off. Deep 7 variable fetal decelerations developed at approximately 9:32 p.m. and a Category III Fetal Heart 8 Rate tracing was noted.³ At 9:39 p.m., the patient had a spontaneous rupture of membranes with 9 scant clear fluid prior noted at 9:36 p.m. A cervical examination revealed that the patient was 10 10 cm dilated and at station one. Anesthesiologist, Dr. S.L. was notified of the patient's request for 11 an epidural and at 9:40 p.m., Respondent was notified of the patient's status. The hospital's 12 resident physician, Dr. P.M., was at the patient's bedside. Crowning was noted at 9:54 p.m. and a 13 male infant weighing 3,175 grams was delivered at 9:56 p.m. by Dr. P.M. with APGARS of 9 at 14 both 1 and 5 minutes. Both Dr. P.M. and Nurse R.S. documented that there was a large "gush of 15 blood" during the delivery of the infant. An estimated blood loss of 2,100 cc was noted on the 16 Delivery Report.

17 11. At 10:01 p.m., Respondent was present in the delivery room. At 10:02 p.m., the 18 patient's blood pressure was 96/56 and pulse was 157. Respondent documented that he observed 19 a normal amount of vaginal bleeding and the placenta, which was already separated, was 20 delivered easily at 10:04 p.m. For 6 minutes following the delivery of the placenta, Respondent 21 noted that the patient was slowly oozing blood. In response, he ordered Methergine and Pitocin 22 to stop the uterine bleeding.

23 ///

24 ///

25 ///

26 _____
27 ³ From approximately 8:53 p.m. to 9:00 p.m., the patient had a Category I fetal heart rate tracing.
28 A Category I fetal heart rate tracing is normal and not associated with fetal asphyxia. A Category III fetal heart rate tracing is abnormal and indicative of hypoxic risk to the fetus.

1 12. Respondent ordered packed red blood cells at 10:15 p.m., Hemabate⁴ at 10:17 p.m.
2 and laboratory studies, including a DIC panel⁵ at 10:18 p.m. He performed a bimanual
3 examination and massage for uterine tone/bleeding. He placed the patient in a dorsolithotomy 4 position and examined her perineum, vagina and cervix for lacerations. The patient's blood 5 pressure was 54/31 and heart rate was 139 at 10:30 p.m. In further effort to control the 6 postpartum bleeding, Respondent placed a Bakri balloon with ultrasound confirmation by 7 obstetrician, Dr. P.R., who was called in to assist. Vaginal packing was done and the fundus was 8 noted to be firm.

9 13. Anesthesiologist, Dr. S.L. arrived to the patient's bedside at 10:35 p.m. and began 10 giving intravenous Neo-Syneprine in order to maintain an adequate blood pressure during 11 anesthesia and for treatment of vascular failure, and Hespan to treat hypovolemia. The patient's 12 blood pressure was 48/27 at 10:35 p.m., and 100/36 at 10:41 p.m. Two units of uncross-matched 13 blood, O Negative, were in the room at 10:43 p.m. The patient's blood pressure was 81/46 at 14 10:45 p.m., 106/50 at 10:50 p.m. and 96/52 at 10:55 p.m. A second dose of Methergine and rectal 15 Cytotec were given at 10:55 p.m. to stop the uterine bleeding. The patient's blood pressure was 16 82/45 at 11:01 p.m., 86/49 at 11:09 p.m. and 85/42 at 11:15 p.m.⁶

17 14. Following the administration of the rescue medications by Dr. S.L., Patient 1's 18 peripheral capillary oxygen saturation was maintained at 100% and the bleeding appeared to be 19 more controlled with systolic blood pressure improvement between 80 and 100. Rather than 20 administer the two units of uncross-matched blood, the decision was made to wait for the cross-21 matched blood.⁷ Dr. S.L. documented that it was anticipated that the cross-matched blood would 22 ⁴ Hemabate is a medication administered to treat severe postpartum bleeding.

23 ⁵ Disseminated intravascular coagulation (DIC) is a condition in which blood clots form 24 throughout the body, blocking small blood vessels. A DIC panel is a group of laboratory tests used to determine the presence of DIC.

25 ⁶ From 10:30 p.m. to 11:15 p.m., the patient's heart rate ranged between 131 to 151.

26 ⁷ Respondent stated that Dr. S.L. stopped the nurse from hanging the uncross-matched O Negative 27 blood and there was no discussion regarding the decision to wait for cross-matched blood; however, Respondent also stated that he and Dr. S.L. jointly made the decision to wait for cross matched blood.
28 There was no documentation in the medical records reflecting that Respondent did not participate in the decision to wait for the cross-matched blood.

1 be available in 30 minutes. Nursing documented that the cross-matched blood would be available 2 in 10 minutes. Although not documented, Respondent stated that he believed the cross-matched 3 blood would be available in 2 minutes. The first unit of cross-matched blood was administered at 4 11:20 p.m., 37 minutes after the uncross-matched blood was available, and the second unit was 5 administered minutes later.

6 15. Nurse R.S. noted that the patient was pale, had labored respirations and a distended 7 abdomen. Dr. S.L. also noted that the patient had become incoherent. Respondent stated that a 8 nurse told him that she heard a "pop". Respondent documented that he observed Patient 1's 9 abdomen distending and called for an exploratory laparotomy for a possible uterine rupture from 10 the Bakri balloon. Estimated blood loss since he arrived to the patient's bedside was 900 cc.
11 This was not documented however. The hospital's Rapid Response Team was present at the 12 bedside at 11:21 p.m.

13 16. At 11:43 p.m., Patient 1 was taken to the operating room. Dr. S.L. performed a rapid 14 sequence IV induction. Dr. S.L. was unable to intubate and called intensivist, Dr. N.C., who then 15 successfully intubated the patient. At approximately 12:03 a.m. on May 22, 2013, the patient 16 went into sinus tachycardia with no pulse. A Code Blue was called and the patient was 17 successfully resuscitated. Respondent performed a supracervical hysterectomy. Bleeding was 18 found in the left lower uterine segment and an extensive hematoma was found in the left adnexal 19 area. During surgery, the abnormal results of the patient's DIC panel were reported to 20 Respondent and the patient received multiple units of packed red blood cells. The Surgical 21 Record of Operation reflected an estimated blood loss of 2,500 cc. Respondent's Operative 22 Report noted that the estimated blood loss was undetermined.

23 17. Patient 1 was transferred to the ICU. At 4:13 a.m., a Code Blue was called. Patient 1 24 could not be resuscitated. She expired at 4:26 a.m. At autopsy, the coroner concluded that 25 Patient 1 died of postpartum hemorrhage due to complications of a normal vaginal delivery and 26 the manner of death was deemed natural.⁸

27 ⁸ The Autopsy Report did not show evidence of a uterine rupture, but there were findings of 300 28 cc of blood in the peritoneal cavity, 200 cc of blood in the right lung, 150 cc of blood in the left lung, and the heart had endocardial hemorrhages.

1 STANDARD OF CARE

2 18. In evaluating and managing a postpartum hemorrhage when the patient's prior blood 3 loss cannot be easily ascertained (i.e., when there is internal bleeding, a blood loss that is not 4 witnessed, or a blood loss that is not reported or measured easily), the standard of care requires 5 that the obstetrician recognize that a collapse in vital signs (a pulse greater than 120 and systolic 6 blood pressure of less than 90) does not present until the patient's blood loss is very substantial 7 and requires that a transfusion of blood products be instituted as rapidly as possible. Managing 8 the hemorrhage initially with aggressive transfusion ratio support should take place while 9 establishing the source of hemorrhage and its subsequent treatment. Rapidly transfusing the first 10 blood product available in a ratio form should take place immediately rather than waiting for 11 cross-matched blood when there is significant blood loss, collapse in vital signs and continued 12 oozing.

13 19. When an obstetrical patient is scheduled to undergo an elective Pitocin induction, the 14 standard of care requires that the obstetrician discuss the risks and benefits of the procedure with 15 the patient and document that discussion in the patient's medical records.

16 FIRST CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

17 (Gross Negligence)

18 20. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under section 2234, subdivision (b), of 19 the Code in that he committed gross negligence with respect to his care and treatment of Patient 20 1. Complainant refers to and, by this reference, incorporates herein, paragraphs 8 through 18, 21 above, as though fully set forth herein. The circumstances are as follows:

22 21. Respondent failed to recognize the severity of Patient 1's blood loss and delayed 23 transfusion by failing to use the uncross-matched O Negative blood that was available at 10:43 24 p.m. and waiting until 11:20 p.m. to start transfusing with cross-matched blood.

25 22. Respondent's acts and/or omissions as set forth in paragraphs 8 through 18 and 20 26 through 21, above, whether proven individually, jointly, or in any combination thereof, constitute 27 gross negligence pursuant to section 2234, subdivision (b), of the Code. Therefore, cause for 28 discipline exists.

1 SECOND CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

2 (Repeated Negligent Acts)

3 23. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under section 2234, subdivision (c), of 4 the Code in that he committed repeated negligent acts with respect to his care and treatment of 5 Patient 1. Complainant refers to and, by this reference, incorporates herein, paragraphs 8 through 6 22, above, as though fully set forth herein.

7 24. In addition, Respondent was negligent in his care of Patient 1 when he failed to 8 recognize the severity of Patient 1's blood loss and delayed transfusion by failing to use the 9 uncross-matched O Negative blood that was available at 10:43 p.m. Respondent waited until 10 11:20 p.m. to start transfusing Patient 1 with cross-matched blood.

11 25. Respondent also failed to document in Patient 1's medical records that he discussed 12 the risks and benefits of an elective Pitocin induction.

13 26. Respondent's acts and/or omissions as set forth in paragraphs 8 through 25, above, 14 whether proven individually, jointly, or in any combination thereof, constitute repeated negligent 15 acts pursuant to section 2234, subdivision (c), of the Code. Therefore, cause for discipline exists.

16 THIRD CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

17 (Failure to Maintain Adequate and Accurate Records)

18 27. Respondent's license is subject to disciplinary action under section 2266 of the Code 19 in that he failed to maintain adequate and accurate records concerning the care and treatment of 20 Patient 1. Complainant refers to and, by this reference, incorporates Paragraphs 9 through 10, 14 21 through 15, 19 and 25, above, as though set forth fully herein.

22 PRAYER

23 WHEREFORE, Complainant requests that a hearing be held on the matters herein alleged, 24 and that following the hearing, the Medical Board of California issue a decision:
