DEFINITIONS

- 6. Abdominoplasty, commonly known as a tummy tuck, is a cosmetic procedure used to remove excess fat and skin from the abdomen. In an abdominoplasty, loose skin in the middle and lower abdominal regions can be removed by performing a panniculectomy. Subsequently, abdominal muscles can be tightened, and remaining skin is reattached. A full tummy tuck is frequently combined with liposuction.
- 7. American Society of Anesthesiologists (ASA) Guidelines are published by the ASA to allow clinicians to provide patients with the benefits of sedation/analgesia, while minimizing risk. The guidelines apply to all practitioners providing anesthesia to patients. The guidelines for moderate sedation requirements include a pre-procedure evaluation consisting of a relevant history and focused physical examination that includes the heart, lungs, and airway conducted immediately prior to sedation; pre-procedure fasting; monitoring and recording of data at appropriate intervals before, during and after a procedure; presence of personnel consisting of a designated individual, other than the practitioner performing the procedure present to monitor the patient throughout the procedure.
- 8. Mini-abdominoplasty, commonly known as a mini-tummy tuck, is a cosmetic procedure that involves the removal of the skin below the belly button, and tightening of the underlying muscles.
- 9. Suction lipectomy is a surgical procedure that involves the removal of fatty tissue by making a small incision in the skin, loosening the fat layer, and withdrawing it by suction.

  Suction lipectomy is a type of liposuction. It is not a weight-loss tool, but a cosmetic procedure with subtle effects.
- 10. Epinephrine (Adrenalin) is a chemical that narrows blood vessels and opens airways in the lungs.
- 11. Tumescent fluid is a dilute mixture of lidocaine and epinephrine in normal saline, commonly used during cosmetic and dermatologic procedures to produce anesthesia, swelling, and firmness in targeted areas.

12. Versed (inidazoiain) is a benzodiazepine sedative. Versed is used to sedate a perso who is having minor surgery, dental work, or other medical procedure. It is a Schedule IV controlled substance pursuant to Health and Safety Code section 11057, subdivision (d), and a dangerous drug pursuant to Business and Professions Code section 4022.

- 13. Lidocaine is a local anesthetic that works by blocking nerve signals. It is used to numb an area of the body to reduce pain or discomfort caused by invasive medical procedures such as surgery, needle punctures, or insertion of a catheter or breathing tube.
- 14. Flumazenil (Romazicon) reverses the effects of benzodiazepine sedatives such as Valium, Versed, Xanax, Tranxene, and others. Benzodiazepines are sometimes used as sedatives before surgery or other medical procedures. Flumazenil is used to reverse benzodiazepine sedation to help the patient wake up after a medical procedure.
- 15. Naloxone (Evzio) blocks or reverses the effects of opioid medication, including extreme drowsiness, slowed breathing, or loss of consciousness. Naloxone injection is used to treat a narcotic overdose in an emergency situation.
- 16. Fentanyl is an opioid medication, sometimes called a narcotic, used to treat moderate or severe pain. Fentanyl can slow or stop breathing. It is a Schedule II controlled substance pursuant to Health and Safety Code section 11055, subdivision (e), and a dangerous drug pursuant to Business and Professions Code section 4022.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

CIRCUMSTANCES RELATED TO PATIENT A<sup>1</sup>

- 17. On or about July 22, 2013, Patient A first presented to Respondent complaining of an abdominal deformity. Respondent conducted a physical examination that identified moderate fat in the back, abdomen, hips, and flanks. The neurological examination stated that Patient A was awake and oriented times four. Respondent recommended that Patient A undergo liposuction, as an in office procedure.
- 18. On or about August 22, 2013 at 10:00, Patient A returned to Respondent's office for a suction lipectomy surgical procedure. Respondent began the procedure at approximately 10:34, with the aid of a single medical assistant. Respondent was solely responsible for administering intravenous sedation, monitoring the sedated patient, and performing the surgery. Respondent infiltrated 2.4 mg/Kg lidocaine into subcutaneous fat, then administered 300 µg of fentanyl, and 7 mg of Versed intravenously. Respondent utilized a laser during the procedure, but did not identify the type, power level, or endpoints in the medical records. At the conclusion of the procedure, Respondent administered fentanyl at approximately 13:50, and Narcan at approximately 13:51. Respondent provided Patient A with 3L of fluids during the procedure, and terminated the IV at the end the procedure. Respondent's records state that he successfully completed the suction lipectomy, removing 1.6 L of melted adipose tissue with tumescent fluid; however, a picture in the Patient A's records suggests that the amount of fluid was only 1.175 L. While the precise end time of the procedure was not documented in the records, Respondent estimates that at approximately 14:00 to 14:30, he terminated IV fluids, and moved Patient A to a recovery area.

- 19. Patient A was monitored in the recovery area by a medical assistant, but not by Respondent or a post-anesthesia care unit nurse. At approximately 16:20, Respondent administered 1 mg of cefazolin, an antibiotic, to Patient A. At approximately 17:00, Patient A was taken by wheelchair to the restroom. Respondent states that Patient A began making grunting noises while in the restroom, and lost consciousness. Patient A's jaw was clenched, but she was breathing continuously. Respondent placed Patient A in her bed, initiated a six parameter monitor, and noted a normal EKG. Patient A regained consciousness, but was uncontrollably shaking her head from left to right, and required supplemental oxygen. Respondent administered reversal drugs at 17:05, and again at 17:15. Respondent provided 2L of oxygen, then weaned her off of oxygen by .5L/min over about ten minutes. Respondent terminated supplemental oxygen when Patient A's saturation was at 99% on room air. Patient A was breathing on room oxygen, but was unable to control her head movement, and was shaking her head from left to right.
- 20. Nearly two hours later, at approximately 19:10, 911 emergency services were called. Prior to the arrival of the ambulance, Respondent reports administering 0.2mg Flumazenil, and 0.8mg Naloxone<sup>2</sup>. At approximately 19:14, the ambulance arrived, and Patient A had a GCS<sup>3</sup> 3 with posturing, and a blood sugar of 171. Patient A's heart rate was 122, blood pressure was 100/0, and her respiration rate was labored at 24/minute. The ambulance technicians initiated large bore IV fluid resuscitation, provided high flow oxygen, and transported Patient A to the hospital. Patient A was admitted to the intensive care unit, and regained consciousness while she was being prepared for endotracheal intubation in the emergency room. Patient A was discharged from the hospital five days later. Upon release, she was referred to a neurologist. The neurological examination revealed a watershed infarction in her brain, and she continues to suffer from neurologic deficits. Patient A complains of numbness and a near loss of mobility in her left pinky finger and right big toe, and a pins and needles pain felt from her incision site down to her toes.

- 21. On or about September 24, 2013, Respondent signed the medical records from Patient A's August 22, 2013 procedure.
- 22. On or about August 2, 2019, Respondent participated in a subject interview with investigators working on behalf of the Board. Respondent stated that he personally administered all of the medications and monitored all of Patient A's vital signs, while he was performing the liposuction procedure. Respondent admitted that the only other person with him was a medical assistant, whose sole role was to document events in the medical record during the procedure. Respondent states that Patient A's complications did not present until 2 to 3 hours after the procedure was completed. Despite the ambulance records that state Patient A was unconscious when they arrived, Respondent claims that Patient A had regained consciousness prior to the arrival of the ambulance.
- 23. During the interview, Respondent described his training and experience, which included a residency in general surgery, and board certification in radiology. Respondent's primary area of practice is interventional radiology. Respondent stated that he participated in six months of plastic surgery in rotation as a junior resident or intern as a part of his general surgery residency, but he has never participated in a residency in plastic or cosmetic surgery. Respondent explained that he worked with another physician in Michigan who performed superficial liposuction at a medical spa for about eight months. Respondent did not identify any formal educational courses or training in liposuction, but states that he had performed 20 to 30 liposuction procedures prior to Patient A. Respondent stated that he typically records his dictation for patient procedures the same day or the day immediately following a procedure, but in this case he did not sign the procedure notes until a month later when he learned of a potential lawsuit. Respondent stated that he does not have any strips or printouts of Patient A's vitals signs during and following her procedure, and that they must have been misplaced.

FIRST CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

(Gross Negligence)

24. Respondent's Physician's and Surgeon's Certificate No. C 53484 is subject to disciplinary action under section 2227, as defined by section 2234, subdivision (b), in that he committed act(s) and/or omission(s) constituting gross negligence. The factual circumstances set forth above in paragraphs 17 through 23 relating to Patient A, are hereby incorporated by reference as if set forth fully herein. Additional circumstances are as follows:

Departures

- 25. Respondent did not perform and/or document performing a pre-procedure focused physical examination that included examination of Patient A's heart, lung and airway prior to administering sedation. Respondent did not perform or document performing a risk assessment related to the suction lipectomy procedure, or for the use of intravenous sedation on Patient A. Patient A's height and weight were either inconsistent or missing from the medical records. Respondent failed to perform and/or document performing a pre-procedure focused physical examination, which constitutes gross negligence.
- 26. During the procedure, Respondent was simultaneously responsible for administering all medications, monitoring Patient A's vital signs, monitoring Patient A's airway, and actually performing the suction lipectomy to her abdomen. Respondent administered anesthesia, and performed the procedure, despite the lack of a designated individual other than the practitioner present to monitor the patient throughout the procedure. Respondent failed to utilize a dedicated person, other than Respondent, to monitor Patient A during her procedure, which constitutes gross negligence.

- 27. Respondent did not perform a pre-procedure focused physical examination of Patient A, did not consistently monitor her vital signs during and after her procedure, and did not ensure proper monitoring of Patient A by a dedicated person other than Respondent. Respondent administered intraoperative moderate sedation to Patient A for an elective procedure, but did not follow the ASA guidelines for patient sedation. Respondent failed to comply with the ASA guidelines applicable to Patient A's procedure, which constitutes gross negligence.
- 28. Respondent stated in the medical records that he administered 180 mL of Lidocaine to Patient A during her procedure intravenously. Respondent stated that Patient A's weight was 84 kg, which would amount to 21.4 mg/kg of Lidocaine administered to Patient A. Respondent incorrectly stated that he administered 2.1 mg/kg of Lidocaine to Patient A. Respondent did not document whether the Lidocaine provided to Patient A also included epinephrine. While lower doses of lidocaine are typically used for other cosmetic procedures, fat liposuction procedures typically require lidocaine combined with epinephrine. Respondent failed to administer a medically safe dose of lidocaine and/or adequately document the administration of lidocaine with or without epinephrine in the treatment of Patient A, which constitutes gross negligence.
- 29. Respondent failed to obtain and/or document providing informed consent to Patient A relating to the use of a medical laser in a suction lipectomy procedure. Respondent did not document the laser type, brand of laser, or power settings used during Patient A's procedures. Despite the risk of abdominal perforation, burns, seroma, and skin necrosis associated with the use of a surgical laser during invasive surgery, Respondent did not provide or document providing any discussion of informed consent with Patient A related to the use of the laser. Respondent's use and documentation of the use of a laser in Patient A's procedure constitutes an extreme departure from the standard of care.

- 30. Respondent performed suction lipectomy on Patient A, absent any documentation of an informed consent relating to the discussion of alternative procedures, including abdominoplasty. Respondent did not document a physical examination with positive or negative findings of abdominal hernias, or discuss the possibility of a mini-abdominoplasty or abdominoplasty with Patient A as an alternative to suction lipectomy. Respondent failed to adequately provide Patient A informed consent related to the surgical procedure performed, which constitutes gross negligence.
- Respondent failed to demonstrate that he has the education, training, experience and demonstrated competency to perform suction lipectomy. Respondent admitted that he has not had any formal training in liposuction procedures. Respondent did not provide any information about completion of education coursework in cosmetic surgery, plastic surgery, or liposuction. Respondent stated that he performed some cosmetic procedures during his residency in general surgery, but none of them included open surgeries. Respondent completed a fellowship in interventional radiology, is not board certified in plastic surgery, and has not participated in a residency in plastic surgery or cosmetic surgery. Respondent stated that he worked with a physician for 7 to 8 months in Michigan that performed cosmetic surgeries, but none of them involved liposuction. Respondent performed outpatient suction lipectomy at his office on Patient A, but did not provide any liability insurance for the procedure. Referring to the suction lipectomy procedure performed on Patient A, Respondent stated that his malpractice insurer advised him that he "may not have coverage of any kind because cosmetic surgery was excluded" from his policy. Respondent lacked the required experience, training, specific education, and demonstrated competency in suction lipectomy prior to performing the procedure on Patient A. which constitutes gross negligence.
- 32. Respondent provided intravenous sedation to Patient A, and performed a surgical procedure known as a suction lipectomy in his outpatient office. Respondent did not perform the surgery in a hospital or accredited acute care surgery center. Respondent did not provide any evidence that he maintained adequate security or liability insurance for the procedure performed on Patient A, and stated that his insurance carrier advised him that the procedure was outside of his scope of practice and likely not covered by his policy. Respondent performed a surgical procedure outside of a general acute care hospital without adequate security for claims by Patient A, which constitutes gross negligence.

- 33. Respondent did not maintain adequate medical records related to the treatment of Patient A as set forth below:
- A. Respondent performed the initial consultation with Patient A on July 22, 2013, but did not sign the note until September 24, 2013. Respondent's entire chart for Patient A was not signed until thirty days after the Patient's procedure and complications. Respondent performed a cosmetic surgery, but did not take any before and after photos of Patient A.
- B. Respondent's intraoperative and post-operative records for Patient A failed to consistently report Patient A's vital signs during and after her surgery.
- C. Respondent's medical records state that the patient was given fentanyl at 13:50, and a Naloxone, a reversal agent, at approximately 13:51. Respondent stated that his protocol was to provide reversal agents in the operating room at the conclusion of a surgical procedure, prior to transferring a patient to the recovery area. Patient A received the recovery agent, and was transferred to the recovery room at approximately 14:00. The medical records do not contain any documentation of Patient A's level of consciousness from 14:00 through 17:00, immediately prior to her recovery event and the administration of additional recovery agents. Patient A was unable to walk or speak, and required additional reversal agents at 17:05. Respondent administered Flumazenil and Narcan, but failed to adequately document her condition and progress during the following two hours before the ambulance was called. Respondent stated that while waiting for the ambulance, he administered 0.2mg Flumanezil, and 0.8mg Naloxone intravenously, but this was not documented on the anesthesia chart; it was only included in the notes signed one month after the procedure.
  - D. Respondent failed to document the safe disposal of waste narcotics.
- E. Respondent did not describe the laser type, power levels, or endpoints in the medical records.

- F. Respondent did not identify whether epinephrine was included in the tumescent solution administered to Patient A.
- G. Respondent did not document the type of IV fluids provided to Patient A during the procedure.
- H. The amount of bloody aspirate removed from Patient A was inconsistent between his statement in the medical record, and the photo of the actual bloody aspirate contained in the medical records.

Respondent failed to maintain adequate records as set forth above, which constitutes gross negligence.

34. Respondent's records related to Patient A's procedure contain no definitive waste of drugs to prevent diversion. Respondent failed to adequately dispose of and/or document the safe disposal of waste narcotics, which constitutes gross negligence.

SECOND CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

. (Repeated Negligent Acts)

- 35. Respondent has subjected his Physician's and Surgeon's Certificate No. C 53484 to disciplinary action under section 2227, as defined by section 2234, subdivision (c), of the Code, in that he committed multiple acts and/or omissions constituting negligence. The circumstances are set forth in paragraphs 17 through 34 which are hereby incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein. Additional circumstances are as follows:
- 36. Respondent's monitoring and recording of vitals signs was inconsistent. Respondent did not monitor and/or document Patient A's vitals signs at five minute intervals intraoperatively, and fifteen minute intervals postoperatively. Despite spending nearly five hours in recovery, Respondent did not provide direct supervision of Patient A, did not assess her consciousness upon arrival to the recovery room, and did not provide monitoring at routine intervals. Respondent's documentation of Patient A's vital signs intraoperatively, and during recovery, were inconsistent and sparse. The medical records for Patient A's procedure do not contain a print out of vital signs. Respondent failed to consistently monitor and/or document consistent monitoring of Patient A's vital signs constitutes negligence.

Respondent did not administer antibiotics to Patient A prior initiating the incision for the surgical procedure. Respondent did not administer antibiotics until several hours after the surgical procedures completion. Respondent failed to administer antibiotics to Patient A prior to initiating an incision for the surgical procedure, which constitutes negligence.

THIRD CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

(Incompetence)

- Respondent has subjected his Physician's and Surgeon's Certificate License No. C 53484 to disciplinary action under section 2227, as defined by section 2234, subdivision (d), of the Code, in that he lacked the qualification, ability, or fitness, as more particularly alleged in paragraphs 17 through 37, which are hereby incorporated by reference as if fully set forth herein,
- Respondent stated that the maximum safe dosage for use with Patient A was 4.5mg/kg, and that he only used 2.1 mg/kg for Patient A's safety. While 35 mg/kg is the standard for lidocaine administration in tumescent solution used during suction lipectomy, it is unclear if Respondent administered any epinephrine to Patient A with the tumescent solution. Respondent failed to administer a medically safe dose of lidocaine and/or adequately document the administration of lidocaine in the treatment of Patient A. Respondent's lack of knowledge of the safe use of lidocaine in tumescent solution related to Patient A's procedure, demonstrated
- Respondent lacked the required experience, training, specific education, and demonstrated competency in suction lipectomy prior to performing the procedure on Patient A,
