(h) All costs recovered under this section shall be considered a reimbursement for costs incurred and shall be deposited in the fund of the board recovering the costs to be available upon appropriation by the Legislature.

(i) Nothing in this section shall preclude a board from including the recovery of the costs of investigation and enforcement of a case in any stipulated settlement.

<sup>2</sup> Effective January 1, 2022, subdivision (k) of Section 125.3, which exempted physicians and surgeons from paying recovery of the costs of investigation and prosecution by the Board, was repealed.

1 FIRST CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

2 (Gross Negligence)

3 14. Respondent Joseph Jeffrey Stone, M.D. is subject to disciplinary action under section 4 2234, subdivision (b), in that he committed gross negligence in his care and treatment of Patient 5 A.<sup>3</sup> The circumstances are as follows:

6 15. On or about April 29, 2014, Patient A, a then 39-year-old female, responded to a 7 Groupon ad for Friva Medical Corporation (Friva), Respondent's cosmetic medical facility at that 8 time, for a discount on liposuction<sup>4</sup> and presented for a consultation of her abdomen and possibly 9 the flanks. Her past medical history included two caesarean sections, had excess fat in the 10 abdomen with an overhanging pannus of skin that might require an abdominoplasty<sup>5</sup> in the future, 11 and was a smoker, which can complicate and delay healing. Respondent determined that she was 12 an appropriate candidate for liposuction of the upper and lower abdomen, was fitted with a 13 compression garment<sup>6</sup> and surgery was scheduled for June 5, 2014. She was advised to stay in 14 town the night of the surgery and to follow up with Respondent one day post-op; however, this 15 was not documented in the patient's chart.

16 16. On or about June 5, 2014, when she arrived for the surgery, Patient A advised 17 Respondent that she was not going to stay in town overnight and would be driven home after the 18 surgery. Respondent stated in his interview with the Board, that he performed an examination of 19 the patient's heart and lungs; however, he failed to document the examination in the chart.
20 Thereafter, Respondent proceeded with the liposuction procedure removing 3450 cubic

22 <sup>3</sup> For privacy, the patient is identified in this pleading as Patient A. The patient's full name 23 will be disclosed to Respondent upon a timely request for discovery pursuant to Government Code section 11507.6.

24 <sup>4</sup> Liposuction, also known as lipoplasty or suction-assisted lipectomy, is cosmetic surgery 25 performed to remove unwanted deposits of fat from under the skin. The doctor sculpts and recontours the patient's body by removing excess fat deposits that have been resistant to reduction by diet or exercise. The fat is permanently removed from under the skin with a suction device.

26 <sup>5</sup> Abdominoplasty is plastic surgery of the abdomen in which fat and skin are removed and 27 muscles are sometimes tightened, usually for cosmetic purposes.

28 <sup>6</sup> A compression garment applies even pressure across the treatment area; preventing excessive fluid buildup and helping the body absorb any fluid that accumulates.

1 centimeters (cc) of total aspirate and 2050 cc of fat from her upper and lower abdomen.

2 Prior to discharge, the patient and her caretaker confirmed that they would not stay in town 3 that night and would not be coming for a post-op visit the following day as she lived several 4 hours away. In his interview with the Board, Respondent stated he told her "I've never done this 5 before but I'll make an accommodation to you if we communicate regularly and if everything 6 goes, normally, then we'll Skype call in a week;" however, he failed to document this in the 7 patient's chart. Patient A was placed in an XXXL compression garment and was instructed to 8 wear for 2-weeks post-op 24/7 and for 2 more weeks 12 hours daily; however, she was discharged 9 without any written post-op instructions. Respondent stated in his interview that there was no 10 need to document his discharge instructions in the chart as he went over the discharge form with 11 the patient's partner; however, he failed to document this in the patient's chart and there are no 12 discharge instructions contained in the patient's certified chart. Additionally, Respondent's own 13 "Protocol #9: Liposuction and Fat Transfers" requires that patients "receive post procedure 14 instructions orally and in writing . . . ."

15 17. On or about June 6, 2014, the patient sent Respondent and his office manager several 16 text messages stating she was in pain and was not very mobile. She was advised to take her 17 medicine.

18 18. On or about June 7, 2014, the patient texted Respondent and his office manager 19 several messages stating she was in pain, was out of pain medication, was swollen and purple in 20 her pubic area, and that the wound had stopped draining the previous day. Respondent responded 21 that she would be sore for a few days, but would get better each day.

22 19. On or about June 8, 2014, the patient continued to text Respondent and his office 23 stating that she was still very sore, had no appetite and was drinking lots of water and ice. She 24 inquired if she should keep resting or try walking around. Respondent indicated that walking is 25 good if she can, but no need to push it, and that they could call in a Vicodin prescription the 26 following day.

27 20. On or about June 9, 2014, the patient sent a series of text messages and advised 28 Respondent and his office manager that she was still hurting and had not been able to get back

1 into the compression garment they provided her, as it was too small, and she was wearing a 2 "spanx like support thing." Respondent indicated that Spanx is fine; however, his post-op 3 liposuction discharge instructions instructed that "a compression garment must be worn at all 4 times for 2 weeks except when showering" and for 2 additional weeks after that 12 hours a day.
5 She further complained that her pubic area was swollen and she had been putting ice packs on it 6 because "the site is very hot" and asked if that was ok. She sent several photographs indicating 7 that her pubic area was "really purple" and "crazy swollen." Respondent looked at the photos and 8 stated her bruising was a little more than average, but nothing unusual, and suggested scheduling 9 a Skype call on Friday, June 13, 2014; however, he failed to retain the photographs in the 10 patient's certified chart produced to the Board.

11 21. On or about June 10, 2014, the patient texted that she was concerned she had a 12 hematoma and sent more photographs. Respondent replied that she had swelling and bruising in 13 the suprapubic area, she should wear the compression garment and it looks OK, and to set up a 14 Skype call for June 13, 2014; however, Respondent was aware the day before that the patient was 15 not wearing the compression garment because it was too small. Additionally, Respondent failed 16 to retain the photographs in the patient's certified chart produced to the Board.

17 22. The following day, on June 11, 2014, six days post-op, Patient A still had not been 18 seen for a follow-up visit. She reported she was very swollen in the suprapubic area and removed 19 the Spanx because she was getting an odor and felt her skin needed to breathe. About two hours 20 later, she indicated that she "started draining heavily" for the first time since Friday (e.g., June 6), 21 and had already gone through three towels on one side. Respondent's office indicated that 22 "drainage is very very good" but she needed to continue to wear the compression garment. She 23 further reported her urine was very dark that morning and had "stuff" in it, and they arranged for 24 a Skype call on June 13, 2014.

25 23. On or about June 13, 2014, Respondent and Patient A were unable to connect via 26 Skype so they had a telephone visit instead. Respondent noted Patient A's right incision was still 27 draining, she was very bruised in the lower abdomen, had skin that had peeled off with raw pubic 28 area, and that it hurt to wear the pressure garment. Respondent's assessment was the patient had

1 8/10 bruising with pain improving, questioned whether the garment caused trauma to the 2 suprapubic area, and had questionable cellulitis<sup>7</sup> of the lower abdomen. His plan was to refill her 3 pain medication and prescribed Clindamycin.<sup>8</sup> Respondent advised Patient A that she should 4 wear “spanx” instead of the compression garment, and if her condition did not improve by June 5 16 (Monday) then she should be seen in the clinic next week. Later that afternoon, the patient 6 sent more photos of her wound stating they looked “gross;” however, Respondent failed to retain 7 the photographs in the patient’s certified chart produced to the Board.

8 24. On or about June 14, 2014, Patient A presented to the emergency room at Mercy
9 Hospital in Bakersfield with a fever, erythema,<sup>9</sup> induration<sup>10</sup> in the lower abdomen, and purulent 10 fluid (pus) draining from the surgical site in the lower abdomen. A CT scan of the abdomen and 11 pelvis revealed edema (swelling) of the subcutaneous fat with small pockets of gas.

12 Unfortunately, the surgeon at Mercy Hospital did not have the resources to care for the patient 13 and she was not admitted to the hospital there.

14 25. On or about June 15, 2014, the patient was transferred to Loma Linda University 15 Health (LLUH) for a possible postoperative infection and to rule out necrotizing fasciitis.<sup>11</sup> Her 16 white blood cell count was 27.7<sup>12</sup> and she was noted to have a large 5 cm necrotic area in the 17 abdomen with surrounding edema, induration, and erythema extending to umbilicus and down to 18 the pubic bone. She was taken to surgery with a pre-operative diagnosis of necrotizing fasciitis

19 <sup>7</sup> Cellulitis is a spreading bacterial infection just below the skin surface.

20 <sup>8</sup> Clindamycin is an antibiotic that fights bacteria in the body and is used to treat serious 21 infections caused by bacteria.

22 <sup>9</sup> Erythema is redness of the skin caused by congestion of the capillaries in the lower 23 layers of the skin and occurs with any skin injury, infection, or inflammation.

24 <sup>10</sup> Induration is an abnormally hard spot or place.

25 <sup>11</sup> Necrotizing fasciitis is a streptococcal infection beginning with severe or extensive 26 cellulitis that spreads to involve the superficial and deep fascia, producing thrombosis of the subcutaneous vessels and gangrene of the underlying tissues. A cutaneous lesion usually serves as a portal of entry for the infection, but sometimes no such lesion is found.

27 <sup>12</sup> Normal white blood count is 4,500 to 11,000 WBCs per microliter (4.5 to 11.0 × 28 10<sup>9</sup>/L).

1 with a post-operative diagnosis of “abdominal wall abscess, severe soft tissue infection with 2 necrotic skin.” During the procedure a large amount of pus and murky fluid was encountered, all 3 locutions were broken up, and the area was debrided and irrigated. She was transferred to the 4 Intensive Care Unit (ICU), and was treated for sepsis, hypotensive, hypokalemia,<sup>13</sup> acute 5 respiratory failure, wound care, and a negative pressure wound vac<sup>14</sup> was placed.

6 26. On or about June 17, 2014, the patient returned to the operating room for further 7 debridement of the necrotic tissue with irrigation of the wound bed and placement of a wound 8 vac.

9 27. Patient A was returned to the operating room four more times in June 2014 for wound 10 debridement, when indicated, irrigation and replacement of the wound vac. She complained of 11 severe pain during attempted wound vac changes at bedside and had to be taken to the operating 12 room for wound vac changes under anesthesia.

13 28. On or about July 2, 2014, Patient A was again taken to the operating room where the 14 wound vac was removed and she was changed to wet dressing changes. On or about July 4, 2014, 15 the patient was discharged home with home health care for dressing changes.

16 29. Respondent stated during his interview with the Board that he was not concerned with 17 the patient being a smoker; however, smoking impairs healing and can decrease oxygenation of 18 healing tissues and when combined with the epinephrine in the tumescent solution used in the 19 procedure and wearing a tight compression garment, can lead to skin breakdown and infection, in 20 addition to continued icing after liposuction.

23 <sup>13</sup> Hypokalemia is a condition of below normal levels of potassium in the blood serum.
24 Potassium, a necessary electrolyte, facilitates nerve impulse conduction and the contraction of 25 skeletal and smooth muscles, including the heart. It also facilitates cell membrane function and proper enzyme activity. Levels must be kept in a proper (homeostatic) balance for the maintenance of health.

26 <sup>14</sup> Negative pressure wound therapy (NPWT) is a method of drawing out fluid and 27 infection from a wound to help it heal. A special dressing (bandage) is sealed over the wound and 28 a gentle vacuum pump is attached.

2 CAUSE FOR ACTION

3 (Physical Illness Affecting Competency)

4 36. On or about May 20, 2022, Respondent signed a Disabled Physician Application for 5 Exemption from Payment of Renewal Fees – No Practice Permitted. This application was 6 certified and signed under penalty of perjury. Under the description of disabilities and 7 explanation as to how the disability prevents the applicant from practicing medicine safely, 8 Respondent's physician stated:

9 On March 12, 2020, [Respondent] experienced left-sided weakness, diplopia,<sup>16</sup> and 10 dysarthria<sup>17</sup> with systolic BPs in the 160 - 170 range when working at Cedars-Sinai 11 Medical Center. Following TPA therapy, the symptoms resolved. On April 19, 12 2020, [Respondent] again experienced diplopia with systolic BPs of 160 - 165, and 13 resolved with anti-hypertensive therapy. [Respondent] is being treated with 14 amlodipine and enalapril to maintain systolic BPs in the 120 - 130 range.
15 [Respondent] has not practiced since March 12, 2020, and has not had further 16 symptoms other than a tremor of his right hand followed by a neurologist.

17 The risk of another hypertensive episode working as a physician, especially as an 18 anesthesiologist, is considerable. [Respondent] has also expressed significant 19 anxiety regarding the risk of a subsequent stroke.

20 Therefore, [Respondent] will not be able to return to the practice of medicine.

21 37. Respondent's physician stated that Respondent's disability began on or about March 22 12, 2020, and described it as a permanent condition.
