23 FIRST CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

24 (Gross Negligence – Failure to Properly Manage Hypertension)

25 18. Respondent's license is subject to disciplinary action under section 2234, subdivision
26 (b), of the Code in that she was grossly negligent in her care and treatment of Patient 1 for 27 hypertension. The circumstances are as follows:

28 19. Complainant refers to and, by this reference, incorporates Paragraphs 8 through 17,

1 above, as though set forth fully herein.

2 20. Blood pressure goals are dependent on a patient's cardiovascular risk profile and 3 other comorbid conditions. However, generally, the standard of care provides that patients with 4 an average blood pressure of  $\geq 140/90$  in the office should be initiated on treatment. Once the 5 blood pressure goal is determined for an individual patient, it should be documented and clearly
6 communicated to the patient. Evaluation should be performed to determine the extent of target
7 organ damage, if any, as well as the presence of other cardiovascular risk factors. Lifestyle
8 factors that could potentially contribute to hypertension should be addressed. Medications, such 9 as nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs), which can potentially elevate blood pressure 10 readings, should be identified and used with caution.

11 21. Respondent's care and treatment of Patient 1, as set forth in Paragraphs 8 12 through 17, above, includes acts and/or omissions which constitutes an extreme departure from 13 the standard of care. The circumstances are as follows:

14 22. Despite the patient's blood pressure readings on multiple occasions being out of 15 range, Respondent failed to properly assess end organ damage, discuss lifestyle modifications, or 16 educate the patient on compliance and risk of uncontrolled hypertension.

17 23. Respondent also prescribed NSAIDS to Patient 1 on at least five occasions between 18 November 16, 2016 to March 27, 2017. When Respondent first prescribed NSAIDS to the
19 patient on November 16, 2016, the patient had a history of blood pressure readings at or above
20 140/90 and a history of noncompliance. Patient 1's blood pressure registered 150/100 on 21 November 16, 2016 and 170/90 on December 23, 2016. There are no records of discussions of 22 the potential risks with the patient, or an evaluation of alternatives. As such, Respondent failed to
23 properly assess and communicate the risks of prescribing NSAIDS to a patient with high blood
24 pressure.

25 24. Respondent's acts and/or omissions as set forth in Paragraphs 8 through 17 and 22
26 through 23, above, whether proven individually, jointly, or in any combination thereof, constitute 27 gross negligence pursuant to section 2234, subdivision (b), of the Code. Therefore, cause for 28 discipline exists.

1 SECOND CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

2 (Gross Negligence – Failure to Appropriately Diagnose the Cause of Pruritis)

3 25. Respondent’s license is subject to disciplinary action under section 2234, subdivision
4 (b), of the Code in that she was grossly negligent in her care and treatment of Patient 1 for her
5 complaint of itching. The circumstances are as follows:

6 26. Complainant refers to and, by this reference, incorporates Paragraphs 8 through 17,
7 above, as though set forth fully herein.

8 27. Pruritis is a common disorder that may be a manifestation of a spectrum of disease
9 processes, ranging from benign to those associated with significant morbidity. The standard of 10 care for a patient presenting with pruritis involves a careful history and physical examination, 11 particularly of the skin. Select laboratory studies can be useful for obtaining a diagnosis.

12 28. Respondent’s care and treatment of Patient 1, as set forth above in Paragraphs 8
13 through 17, includes acts and/or omissions which constitutes an extreme departure from the 14 standard of care. The circumstances are as follows:

15 29. Patient 1 presented to the clinic on several occasions for pruritis, and presented to the 16 Respondent for these issues on December 8, 2016 and March 27, 2017. On December 8, 2016,
17 the patient reported three days of itching at the time she was seen. Respondent did not record a
18 physical exam or note alarm features to rule out life-threatening conditions. The lack of 19 diagnostic workups precluded an evaluation of the underlying condition for which the patient
20 required treatment. Instead, a medication, Atarax, was prescribed with no further workups
21 scheduled or planned.

22 30. Respondent’s acts and/or omissions as set forth in Paragraphs 8 through 17 and 29,
23 above, whether proven individually, jointly, or in any combination thereof, constitute gross
24 negligence pursuant to section 2234, subdivision (b), of the Code. Therefore, cause for discipline
25 exists.

1 THIRD CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

2 (Gross Negligence – Failure to Appropriately Diagnose the Cause of and Appropriately
3 Treat Excess Intestinal Gas)

4 31. Respondent's license is subject to disciplinary action under section 2234, subdivision
5 (b), of the Code in that she was grossly negligent in her care and treatment of Patient 1 for excess
6 intestinal gas. The circumstances are as follows:

7 32. Complainant refers to and, by this reference, incorporates Paragraphs 8 through 17,
8 above, as though set forth fully herein.

9 33. Initial evaluation of excess gas should include a history and physical to identify alarm
10 features, such as nocturnal abdominal pain, systemic symptoms including weight loss or fever, 11 organomegaly, and vomiting. A dietary history should also be taken, focusing on gas-producing 12 foods and beverages. Most patients can be treated conservatively with dietary modifications.
13 Patients with GERD may require acid-suppressive therapy.

14 34. Respondent's care and treatment of Patient 1, as set forth above in Paragraphs 8
15 through 17, includes acts and/or omissions which constitutes an extreme departure from the 16 standard of care. The circumstances are as follows:

17 35. Patient 1 presented to the clinic on several occasions for excess gas and constipation.
18 Respondent saw Patient 1 for these issues on November 29, 2016, December 12, 2016, and July
19 16, 2017, but no diagnostic workup was performed. During these visits, Respondent prescribed
20 Patient 1 with Ranitidine, Linzess, and Creon. On January 16, 2019, Respondent stated during 21 her interview<sup>7</sup> that she prescribed Linzess because she believed it would help with constipation,
22 which she believed was caused by poor diet. Respondent also stated she prescribed Creon to the 23 patient "because she is diabetic", and "they have poor digestion." However, Linzess is not
24 approved for every type of constipation and Creon is not FDA approved in aiding indigestion in 25 diabetics. Without a diagnostic workup to identify the underlying cause of symptoms presented,
26 these medications were prescribed without clear medical indications.

27 36. Respondent's acts and/or omissions as set forth in Paragraphs 8 through 17 and 35,

28 <sup>7</sup> Respondent was interviewed by Investigators for the Board on January 16, 2019.

1 above, whether proven individually, jointly, or in any combination thereof, constitute gross
2 negligence pursuant to section 2234, subdivision (b), of the Code. Therefore, cause for discipline
3 exists.

4 FOURTH CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

5 (Gross Negligence – Failure to Appropriately Manage Positive RPR)

6 37. Respondent's license is subject to disciplinary action under section 2234, subdivision
7 (b), of the Code in that she was grossly negligent in her care and treatment of Patient 1 for her
8 positive nontreponemal (RPR) test results. The circumstances are as follows:

9 38. Complainant refers to and, by this reference, incorporates Paragraphs 8 through 17,
10 above, as though set forth fully herein.

11 39. RPR is a screening nontreponemal test for syphilis. If the test returns positive, the 12 standard of care involves a confirmatory treponemal test to rule out false positives. In patients 13 with a history of treated syphilis, the presence of a positive RPR can indicate a new infection, an 14 evolving response to recent treatment, treatment failure, or the presence of a serofast state.
15 Healthcare providers are mandated by the California Department of Public Health to report 16 syphilis cases.

17 40. Respondent's care and treatment of Patient 1, as set forth above in Paragraphs 8
18 through 17, includes acts and/or omissions which constitutes an extreme departure from the 19 standard of care. The circumstances are as follows:

20 41. Respondent documented Patient 1's positive RPR with history of treatment on 21 multiple occasions. A confirmatory treponemal test should have been planned and conducted.
22 During the interview with Respondent, she seemed unaware that she needed to work up such 23 cases. Since a patient testing positive for RPR after treatment may have a new infection, be a
24 treatment failure, or be in a serofast state, Respondent's lack of follow up testing presents a public
25 health concern. She also appeared to be unaware that she needed to report a positive test to the 26 California Department of Public Health.

27 42. Respondent's acts and/or omissions as set forth in Paragraphs 8 through 17 and 41,
28 above, whether proven individually, jointly, or in any combination thereof, constitute gross

1 negligence pursuant to section 2234, subdivision (b), of the Code. Therefore, cause for discipline
2 exists.

3 FIFTH CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

4 (Gross Negligence – Failure to Appropriately Treat Sciatica)

5 43. Respondent's license is subject to disciplinary action under section 2234, subdivision
6 (b), of the Code in that she was grossly negligent in her care and treatment of Patient 1 for 7 sciatica. The circumstances are as follows:

8 44. Complainant refers to and, by this reference, incorporates Paragraphs 8 through 17,
9 above, as though set forth fully herein.

10 45. The standard of care for a patient presenting with symptoms of sciatica involves a 11 focused history and physical examination to identify alarming features that require imaging or 12 other evaluations to rule out infectious, inflammatory, or neoplastic causes. Low risk patients
13 should be treated conservatively with nonnarcotic analgesics, such as NSAIDs or acetaminophen, 14 and temporary activity modification. Reassessment should be carried out in two to four weeks to 15 evaluate for need of other treatment options or further workup. Systemic or epidural 16 glucocorticoids are options for patients who have persistent severe radicular symptoms that are 17 refractory to conservative therapy. A tailored, stepwise approach that involves increasing and 18 decreasing medications as necessary, with periodic reviews and further workups, would minimize 19 adverse effects from excessive treatment.

20 46. Respondent's care and treatment of Patient 1, as set forth above in Paragraphs 8
21 through 17, includes acts and/or omissions which constitutes an extreme departure from the
22 standard of care. The circumstances are as follows:

23 47. Respondent's history and physical on Patient 1 did not provide information on alarm
24 features for patient's sciatica. Respondent prescribed both NSAIDs as well as glucocorticoids to 25 a patient with uncontrolled hypertension, GERD and known noncompliance. This prescribing
26 behavior was excessive and increased the risk of adverse drug events, potential for drug-drug

1 interactions, possibility of prescribing cascades<sup>8</sup> and further compliance issues. There was no
2 documentation of a risk/benefit/alternatives discussion of glucocorticoid<sup>9</sup> injections provided in
3 the clinic. There was no plan for periodic reviews.

4 48. Respondent's acts and/or omissions as set forth in Paragraphs 8 through 17 and 47,
5 above, whether proven individually, jointly, or in any combination thereof, constitute gross
6 negligence pursuant to section 2234, subdivision (b), of the Code. Therefore, cause for discipline
7 exists.

8 SIXTH CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

9 (Repeated Negligent Acts)

10 49. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under section 2234, subdivision (c), of 11 the Code, in that she engaged in repeated acts of negligence in the care and treatment of Patient 1.
12 Complainant refers to and, by this reference, incorporates herein, paragraphs 8 through 17, above,
13 as though fully set forth herein. The circumstances are as follows:

14 50. Despite the patient's blood pressure readings on multiple occasions being out of 15 range, Respondent failed to properly assess end organ damage, discuss lifestyle modifications, or 16 educate the patient on compliance and risk of uncontrolled hypertension.

17 51. Respondent also prescribed NSAIDS to Patient 1 on at least five occasions between 18 November 16, 2016 to March 27, 2017. When Respondent first prescribed NSAIDS to the
19 patient on November 16, 2016, the patient had a history of blood pressure readings at or above
20 140/90 and a history of noncompliance. Patient 1's blood pressure registered 150/100 on 21 November 16, 2016 and 170/90 on December 23, 2016. There are no records of discussions of
22 the potential risks with the patient, or an evaluation of alternatives. As such, Respondent failed to
23 properly assess and communicate the risks of prescribing NSAIDS to a patient with high blood
24 pressure.

25 52. Patient 1 presented to the clinic on several occasions for pruritis, and presented to the 26

27 <sup>8</sup> Prescribing cascade is a process whereby the side effects of drugs are misdiagnosed as symptoms 28 of another problem, resulting in further prescriptions and further side effects and unanticipated drug interactions, which itself may lead to further misdiagnoses and further symptoms.

1 Respondent for these issues on December 8, 2016 and March 27, 2017. On December 8, 2016,
2 the patient reported three days of itching at the time she was seen. Respondent did not record a
3 physical exam or note alarm features to rule out life-threatening conditions. The lack of
4 diagnostic workups precluded an evaluation of the underlying condition for which the patient
5 required treatment. Instead, a medication, Atarax, was prescribed with no further workups
6 scheduled or planned.

7 53. Patient 1 presented to the clinic on several occasions for excess gas and constipation.
8 Respondent saw Patient 1 for these issues on November 29, 2016, December 12, 2016, and July
9 16, 2017, but no diagnostic workup was performed. During these visits, Respondent prescribed
10 Patient 1 with Ranitidine, Linzess, and Creon. On January 16, 2019, Respondent stated during 11 her interview that she prescribed Linzess because she believed it would help with constipation,
12 which she believed was caused by poor diet. Respondent also stated she prescribed Creon to the 13 patient "because she is diabetic", and "they have poor digestion." However, Linzess is not
14 approved for every type of constipation and Creon is not FDA approved in aiding indigestion in 15 diabetics. Without a diagnostic workup to identify the underlying cause of symptoms presented,
16 these medications were prescribed without clear medical indications.

17 54. Respondent's history and physical on Patient 1 did not provide information on alarm
18 features for patient's sciatica. Respondent prescribed both NSAIDS as well as glucocorticoids to
19 a patient with uncontrolled hypertension, GERD and known noncompliance. This prescribing
20 behavior was excessive and increased the risk of adverse drug events, potential for drug-drug
21 interactions, possibility of prescribing cascades and further compliance issues. There was no 22 documentation of a risk/benefit/alternatives discussion of glucocorticoid injections provided in 23 the clinic. There was no plan for periodic reviews.

24 55. Respondent's acts and/or omissions as set forth in paragraphs 8 through 17 and 50
25 through 54, above, whether proven individually, jointly, or in any combination thereof, constitute 26 repeated acts of negligence pursuant to section 2234, subdivision (c), of the Code. Therefore 27 cause for discipline exists.

(Failure to Maintain Adequate and Accurate Medical Records)

56. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under section 2266 of the Code for failing to maintain adequate and accurate records relating to her care and treatment of Patient I. Complainant refers to and, by this reference, incorporates herein, paragraphs 8 through 17, above, as though fully set forth herein.
