 This Accusation is brought before the Board, under the authority of the following laws. All section references are to the Business and Professions Code (Code) unless otherwise indicated.

- 4. Section 2227 of the Code states:
- (a) A licensee whose matter has been heard by an administrative law judge of the Medical Quality Hearing Panel as designated in Section 11371 of the Government Code, or whose default has been entered, and who is found guilty, or who has entered into a stipulation for disciplinary action with the board, may, in accordance with the provisions of this chapter:
 - (1) Have his or her license revoked upon order of the board.
- (2) Have his or her right to practice suspended for a period not to exceed one year upon order of the board.
- (3) Be placed on probation and be required to pay the costs of probation monitoring upon order of the board.
- (4) Be publicly reprimanded by the board. The public reprimand may include a requirement that the licensee complete relevant educational courses approved by the board.
- (5) Have any other action taken in relation to discipline as part of an order of probation, as the board or an administrative law judge may deem proper.
- (b) Any matter heard pursuant to subdivision (a), except for warning letters, medical review or advisory conferences, professional competency examinations, continuing education activities, and cost reimbursement associated therewith that are agreed to with the board and successfully completed by the licensee, or other matters made confidential or privileged by existing law, is deemed public, and shall be made available to the public by the board pursuant to Section 803.1.
- 5. Section 2234 of the Code, states in pertinent part:

The board shall take action against any licensee who is charged with unprofessional conduct. In addition to other provisions of this article, unprofessional conduct includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- "...(b) Gross negligence.
- (c) Repeated negligent acts. To be repeated, there must be two or more negligent acts or omissions. An initial negligent act or omission followed by a separate and distinct departure from the applicable standard of care shall constitute repeated negligent acts.
- (1) An initial negligent diagnosis followed by an act or omission medically appropriate for that negligent diagnosis of the patient shall constitute a single negligent act.

- (2) When the standard of care requires a change in the diagnosis, act, or omission that constitutes the negligent act described in paragraph (1), including, but not limited to, a reevaluation of the diagnosis or a change in treatment, and the licensee's conduct departs from the applicable standard of care, each departure constitutes a separate and distinct breach of the standard of care.
 - (d) Incompetence..."
- 6. Section 725, in pertinent part, states:
- "(a) Repeated acts of clearly excessive prescribing, furnishing, dispensing, or administering of drugs or treatment . . . as determined by the standard of the community of licensees is unprofessional conduct for a physician and surgeon . . ."

CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINARY ACTION

(Gross negligence/repeated negligent acts/excessive prescribing/incompetence)

7. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under Business and Professions Code section 2234 and/or 2234(b) and/or 2234(c) and/or 2234(d) and/or 725 in that Respondent was grossly negligent and/or committed repeated acts of negligence and/or excessively prescribed and/or was incompetent in the care and treatment of multiple patients. The circumstances are as follows:

Patient 11

8. Patient 1, a 45-year old female, came under Respondent's care and treatment from May 18, 2012, at which time the patient stated that she was taking Valium, 10 mg, BID, for neck and back spasms. The patient gave a history of substance abuse, including alcohol and Vicodin (an opiate), but advised that she had been taking Valium² for at least 10 years and had "never been addicted" to it. Without conducting a full evaluation of the patient's past substance abuse, Respondent prescribed Valium, 10 mg, BID. Over the course of treatment, Respondent would add Klonopin³, .5 mg, and alprazolam⁴, 2 mg, to the patient's regimen of benzodiazepines, as well as

² Valium (diazepam) is a benzodiazepine used to treat anxiety disorders, muscle spasms and other conditions. Misuse of this medication can cause addiction, overdose or death. Valium should not be used in combination with opioid medications or alcohol.

⁴ Alprazolam, marketed under the trade name Xanax, is a benzodiazepine used to treat anxiety disorders. Use of this medication in conjunction with other benzodiazepines can cause dangerous side effects.

Ambien⁵, 10 mg, a hypnotic with properties similar to benzodiazepines. There is no medical benefit and potential for significant harmful interactions combining three medications of the same class with a hypnotic. Respondent continued the patient on this regimen through 2018. Review of a Controlled Substance Utilization Review and Evaluation System (CURES) report for the period from May 2017 to May 2018 showed that Respondent was prescribing amounts of these controlled substances such that the patient would be on an average daily dose of 15 mg of Valium, 3.3 mg of alprazolam, 1.3 mg of Klonopin and 7.5 mg of Ambien.

- 9. On August 28, 2012, Patient 1 reported difficulty with focus. Respondent used an adult ADHD self-report survey to assess the patient for possible ADD/ADHD. Based on the results of that survey, Respondent diagnosed the patient with ADD and began prescribing Adderall⁶, 10 mg, BID. The use of amphetamine and other stimulants to treat Attention Deficit Disorder requires careful and thorough evaluation and is relatively contraindicated in a patient with substance abuse and alcohol dependency issues. The 2017-2018 CURES report showed that Respondent was prescribing Adderall and a mixed amphetamine in quantities sufficient to provide the patient with an average daily dose of 94 mg.
- 10. During the period 2012-2019 when Respondent inappropriately prescribed a combination of amphetamine salts, multiple benzodiazepines and a hypnotic to Patient 1, Respondent failed to monitor the patient for possible abuse or diversion of her medications. CURES reports show that while she was under Respondent's care, Patient 1 did resume use of Vicodin. Combining benzodiazepines with an opiate posed the risk of serious side effects for the patient and Respondent should have monitored her drug use via CURES reports to detect abuse and doctor shopping. Given the patient's self-reported history of alcohol and opiate abuse, Respondent should have required periodic urine toxicology screens and required that the patient use only one pharmacy to fill her prescriptions. Respondent failed to maintain appropriate boundaries in that Respondent repeatedly accommodated the patient's requests for medications and failed to wean her from them.

Patient 2

- 11. Patient 2, a 42 year old female with a complex psychiatric history, began treatment with Respondent on January 28, 2000. Respondent described the patient as catatonic and mute, with suicidal thoughts and auditory hallucinations. Respondent diagnosed the patient with Major Depression, rule out Psychosis. At the first appointment, Respondent prescribed Xanax for anxiety and Prozac for depression. To address the patient's severe, resistant insomnia, Respondent prescribed Ambien and had the patient sign an informed consent for Ambien, 5-10 mg; however, Patient 2's use of Ambien equaled or exceeded 25 mg/day over a 20 year period, which dosage Respondent stated was necessary to enable her to sleep in two four-hour shifts. The recommended initial dose for Ambien CR is 6.25 mg for women, which can be increased to 12.5 mg if the lower dose is not effective. Higher doses pose the risk of next day impairment. During the 20 year period, Patient 2 exhibited dependency on this hypnotic and resisted all efforts to substitute other drugs and therapies to treat her insomnia.
- 12. In addition to sleep medications, Respondent also prescribed the benzodiazepines Ativan⁷, 6 mg/day, and Klonopin, 4 mg/day. There is no benefit and potential for significant harmful effects combining three benzodiazepines and benzodiazepine-like medications. In addition, between 2015 and 2018, the patient was also being prescribed hydrocodone, an opiate, by another physician, placing her at increased risk of life threatening drug interactions. Only in 2019, after many years of high dose benzodiazepine therapy, did Respondent significantly reduce the amount of medications prescribed.

Patient 3

13. Patient 3, a 17 year old female, came under Respondent's care on January 29, 2013 for severe depression, with anxiety, mood swings and bipolar tendencies. Respondent started the patient on Prozac, an antidepressant, and Xanax, 25 mg, as needed for anxiety and panic attacks.

⁷ Ativan (lorazepam) is used to treat anxiety and insomnia. Used in combination with other CNS depressants it may cause respiratory depression. Long-term use also poses a risk for physical and psychological dependence.

In 2014, Respondent added Valium to treat the patient's neck/back spasms. Combining two medications of the same class does not provide significant benefits and potentially can have harmful effects. The patient continued to receive prescriptions for these medications for several years, between 2014 and 2018. Long-term use of these medications poses a risk of patient harm, including dependency, cognitive decline and falls. Benzodiazepines should be used restrictively when treating patients with Bipolar Disorder and prescribing benzodiazepines may be associated with a more severe course of illness.

- 14. In June 2013, Respondent used a psychometric scale to diagnose ADD, after which she began prescribing Adderall, 20 mg, BID, which was later increased to 20 mg, TID. Prescribing benzodiazepines and amphetamines concurrently and on a daily basis causes secondary mood swings and aberrant behaviors that can be mistaken for the patient's underlying condition. Patient 3 reported that her mood swings increased after taking Adderall.
- 15. Although Respondent prescribed drugs with the potential for dependency and abuse, she did not perform routine urine toxicology screens. Patient 3 was using multiple pharmacies to fill her medications, which can be a sign of abuse, but Respondent was not regularly utilizing CURES reports to detect abuse or diversion and did not become aware of this until after the Board began its investigation.

Patient 4

- 16. On August 16, 2017, the Board received a CURES report relating to Respondent's overall prescribing. That report revealed that on July 6, 2015 and September 9, 2015, Respondent prescribed Vicodin ES, 300/7.5 mg, #60, to Patient 4. Patient 4 did not receive prescriptions for any psychiatric medications and she resided more than 60 miles from Respondent's office; moreover, the patient had the same surname as Respondent. The Board sent Respondent a subpoena for records relating to her treatment of Patient 4 and Respondent provided a certification that in fact no records existed. Prescribing controlled substances to a family member is below the standard of care.
- 17. Respondent is guilty of unprofessional conduct and Respondent's certificate is subject to disciplinary action based on her gross negligence, repeated negligent acts, excessive
